SHERMAN ON THE INVESTIGATION

Secretary Sherman has been interviewed relative to the pending Potter resoluto the interview, that the real purpose of the resolution was to manufacture ammunition for the fall Campaign irrespective of the material used. He does not think the movement to investigate into the alleged frauds in Florida and Louisiana is aimed at the Presidential title, as regards that as irrefragibly by the authority of a law which must be repealed before Mr. Hayes can be unseated. This is a point which has not yet been discussed, but there can be no doubt that the Secretary is correct in his opinion. The real point, he claims, with the Democrats, is to make capital for the Congressional campaign, by making it appear that the party is anxious to investigate the frauds, while the Republicans are opposed to it. But the position taken by the Republicans in Congress; places the Democrats in an unpleasant situ-The country now Democrats want a partial or a one sided investigation, and are unwilling to permit an investigation into the frauds, murders and attempted briberies during the campaign of 1876, by their own party.

Oa the Louisiana vote, Secretary Sherman said he was fully convinced that if there had been a full and fair one in that State the Republican majority would have been much larger than reported by the Returning Board. When asked what the Democrats could do with him under the resolution should pass, he answered they could do nothing, and he defied them to do their worst. He was made chairman of the Republican State Committee last year, a position he held in 1869, when he was appointed by President Grant, Minister to Switzerland. From that time to last year-a period of eight years by refusing to transact any public business -the work of guiding the Republican torces in Wisconsin fell upon Hon. E. W. Keyes, who is as skullful in politics as Bismarck is in diplomacy. He has carried the shown himself a master situation. Mr. Rublee's eight year's residence abroad caused him in many respects to an interest in Wisconsin matters. Still he was strong in his Republican principles, and the party not forgetting his past services as chairman of the State Committee, re-elected him last year when the Civil Service No. 1, issued by the President, compelled Mr. Keyes to resign the chairmanship of that Committee. Since then he has spent but a small portion of his time in Wisconsin, and has paid but little attention to politics. The statement was simply published by the Gazette. It was made by Randolph Tucker, one of the ablest Democratic lawyers in this country, when he gave it as his opinion that unceating Hayes would not seat Tilden.

An Immediate Invasion Feared Large Numbers Encamped Near North Troy, Vermont.

NORTH TROY, Vermont, May 16 .- A large body of strangers are encamped in the woods near this place. They are all Irishmen, well dressed and intelligent. Accessions are being made to the camp almost hourly. The Canadian Militia has been called out, and there seems to exist a feeling along the border that an immediate invasion of Canada by a large army of Fenians is more than probable.

THE DEAD-LOCK.

Another Short Session of the House -The Democrats Accomplish Nothing-The Georgia Stephens Cried

WASHINGTON, May 16.-Both houses had very short sessions to-day, and adourned in order to allow members to attend the very impressive funeral of Professor Henry. In the House the Democrats were able to show 141 members, or six less than a quorum, but eight of these were paired, so that their woting strength was only 133. Three new Democratic votes came in to-day, and more are expected tomorrow or Saturday. It is understood that all pairs expire on Saturday, but it is doubtful if the Democrats have a quorum To-day was the first time Stephens has a useless roll call. The little dried-up old man was swinging around nervously in his wheeled chair, and at every lapse in the proceedings he would call on "Mr. Speaker." But the Democrats were on the watch, and each time prevented his being heard. If he could have spoken, Mr. Stephens would have repudiated the whole movement, and it would have been the signal for a revolt on the Democratic side. There are about thirty Democrats who have no sympathy with their party in this scheme.

They are led by Stephens, and among them are Bouck and Lynde, of Wisconsin; Buckner, and Morgan, of Missouri ; Mills and Reagan, of Texas; Felton and Bell, of Georgia; House and Young, of Tennessee, and some others. They are all ready to follow a leader, and bolt their party, and had Stephens obtained the chance to make a speech to-day he would have carried most of them with him, at least so far as to make a compromise, and allow the Republicans to debate the otter resolutions and offer amendments to them. Very naturally, the knowledge of this condition of things on the Democratic side strengthens the Republicans in their that the retiring member shall introduce For local points in Canada, New York and New position, and they would not be willing toter's resolution shall not and will work to that end.

In a recent case a man in an obscure town in Grant county applies for bounties, which so far as footed up, amount to $800, and it is expected the sum will reach $1000, the bounty for each scalp being $5. The Secretary State is authorized by law to audit these accounts, but he has no funds from which to pay a detective or any other expenses of ascertaining their correctness; yet he is far from satisfied that this claim is free from fraud, and he holds it under advisement. The County Clerk of Grant county. F. S. Kid, who certifies to the correctness the account, stands well; but by request of the claimant, checks for the amount of the bounty are to be mailed to him, (the clerk,) which is, to be sure, no cause for suspicion, as the hunter may be ignorant, and he must live at a distance from any postoffice in order to be able to secure so many wolf scalps, perfect digestion and assimilation, draw strength and all his business for procuring both the county and State bounty is transacted with that officer. CLEVELAND, O., May 11.-Probably no more remarkable production of our Republican institutions has come forth for years than the prize-fighter-gambler-statesman, John Morrissey, who has just been buried at Troy, N. Y. When this man came to Congress, a great

The better class of members drew up their cloaks about them, many of them came to respect him very much more before his term was over, for he was found to have some of the charac- NIAGARA FALLS, teristics of true manhood inclosed underneath his rough exterior, and really voted on some of the great questions which came before Congress with more discrimination than the average Congressman. They now insist that Pot- him He felt that it was disgrace enough to be defeated by such a competitor. At this time some one, as a joke, introduced Morrissey to General Gartield as one of the leaders of the Democratic party. As a mere matter of courtesy, General Garfield asked the Gambler if there was anything he could do for him.

"Well," said Morrissey, "since you mention it, I should like to get started right here. I'm not much used to it, and I don't want to make no mistake. If you will introduce me you will do me a great favor, for I do't want to be laughed at."

The General says that he at first thought he would not introduce the ex-gambler, but finally, after thinking the matter over for a moment, he made up his mind that there could be no harm in it. Morrissey had been decided elected, and, saying nothing in regard to his past life, he now certainly had the rights of a member of the House, and so complied with the request. The General, in referring to the subject afterwards, said that he must confess that pany, but he did so without any apparent

You see, I concluded that I ought for me, but I quietly paidthem $25,000 for the nomination, and I was pretty certain of getting elected. After that I didn't pay out anything in buying votes. There were some expenses for drinks, etc., and that was all. I found out the limits of my district, and tried to see every voter in it. I would speak to a man very cordially, tell him who I was, and ask him to vote for me-If he promised to do so, all right. If not, made a note of it, and tried to see him again. In this way I got a great many who had never voted before, and a good majority followed." When the General was in New York, about a year later, on his way to Connecticut, to engage in the canvass of the State, he was met upon the streets by Morrissey, with his usual blandness, and inquired as "I am going now to Connecticut to en-

MOUNT VERNON.

A Visit Thereto by a Janesville Young Lady .-- An Interesting Description of the Historic Spot where Washington; Lies Buried. The following letter was written by Miss

Kate Williams to her grandmother, Mrs. Judge Noggle, of this city, and contains so many interesting facts regarding the old home at Washington, that we are assured our readers will read it with interest:

Washington, May 11, 1878 .- To-day a party consisting of Dr. and Mrs. Spaulding. formerly rector of Christ church, in Janesville, now of Hartford, Connecticut set led by a thriving and industrious people, com-Mrs. Clarke, of Wi consin, Mr. Van Vorhes, of Ohio, and your correspondent, went down the river to Mount Vernon, on the steamer "Arrow." We started at 10. a. m. On the way we stopped at Alexander, Fort Washington, jand several other places. We had the honor of Mrs. Hayes' presence on board, and those who had not been able to squeeze in at any of her weekly receptions before Lent, obtained a good look at her. We reached Mount Vernon at 12 o'clock. Leaving the steamer, we proceeded to the tomb where Washington, with some thirty other persons connected with the family, is buried. The vault back of the tomb has been locked, and the key thrown into the Potomac. We passed on and came to a tree on and after Saturday, May 11th. which is two hundred and eight years old, and was Washington's favorite resting place. Farther on, we came to the only magnolis tree on the place; the only one planted by Washington himself. He planted it in the year he died-1799. We reached the mansion next. I am atraid there are not many of us who would be willing to live in this house which was once considered grand. The first room we entered was the family dining-room. It looks just the same as it did during Washington's lifetime. The only original piece of furniture is a side-board. We went into the hall next, where on one side surrounded by a glass case hangs the key of the Bastile, presented to Washington by Lafayette after the prison was in ruins. It was Lung there by General Washington himself, and has always remained in the same place. The hall runs the entire length of the house. On the left hand side is the HARVESTER east parlor, the only furniture it contains is a large glass case in which are stored a great many interesting relics. Among other things is a suit of clothes General Washington used to wear. The next room we entered was the west parlor of which the State of New York has charge. In one corner was harpsichord, presented by General Washington to his adopted daughas a wedding present. There an excellent painting of Washington which I understand was painted from lite. On a table in the centre of the room is a model of the Bastile precented to Washington by Lafayette. There is a beautiful marble mantel presented to Washington by an Italian sculptor. A chair was shown in which Washington was very fond of sitting. After examining the The first room we came to was the one occupied by Lafayette when he was a guest at Mt. Vernon. It is in charge of the State of New Jersey. On the right hand side of the bed is Washington's favorite window, the view from this window is beautiful. The bed on which Washington died is still preserved. It is square with four posts al-attic right over Washington's. The State of Wisconsin has charge of this room. It is the prettiest room in the house. It was furnished by Mrs. Mitchell of Milwaukee the Carpet that was on the floor when, Mrs. Washington occupied the room was a rag one costing 40 cents a yard, it is now replaced by one costing $7,00 a yard.

> We returned to the lower floor to inspect the kitchens and gardens. The former consist of an ordinary and state kitchen, one was used for cooking the family meals, and the other on state occasions. Both are situated a little distance from the house. The gardens are kept in excellent repair. There are two trees planted by Madison and Jefterson. In a glass case in the conservatory is shown a little dried up plant which is the only thing left that grew in the conservatory during Washington's life time. As we were leaving the garden we were presented with some twigs from the hedge, which will help to keep our visit fresh and green for years to come. At this time we found a pleasant place under the trees city. All grades of Sugare at CHICAGO PRICES, and ate our lunch. After that was disposed of the boat whistle warned us to hurry or we would get left. We were disappointed in not being able to stay longer. We reached the city at five p. m., tired but well pleased with the manner in which we had spent the day.

IT CAN BE CURED.

IT can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by Sanford's Radical Cure for Catacker is but a slight evidence of what may follow a persistent use of this remedy. The hard, incrusted matter that has lodged in the nasal passages is removed with a few applications: the ulceration and inflammation subdued and healed; the entire membranous linings of the head are cleansed and purified. Constitutionally its action is that of a powerful purifying agent, destroying in its course through the system the acid poison, the destructive agent in catarrhal diseases.

A COMPLICATED CASE.

Gentlemen, — My case is briefly as follows: I have had Catarrh for ten years, each year with increasing severity. For nine years I had not breathed through one nostril. I had droppings in the throat, a very bad cough, asthma so bad as to be obliged to take a remedy for it at night before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to injure my sense of hearing and compel me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not quite three bottles of Sanford's Radical Cure. My hearing is fully restored. I have no asthmatic symptoms, no cough, no droppings in the throat, no headache, and in every way better than I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the Cure on my appetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact, every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the Radical Cure. Very respectfully.

Fitchburg, Oct. 14.

C. H. LAWRENCE.

Indorsed by a Prominent Druggist. I hereby certify that Mr. Lawrence purchased the Radical Cuer of me, and from time to time made me familiar with his case. I believe his statement to be true in every particular.

A FEARFUL FALL

Mrs. Mallett Falls from a Horse Down the Walls of the Grand Can-

Denver Tribune: As much interest as there may be attached to the war between the contending railroads in the Grand Canon of the Arkansas, no occurrence has transpired in that locality which has attracted so much attention and sympathy as an incident which happened to Mrs. E J. Mallett, of Canon City. Mrs. Mallett is an excellent horsewoman, and having great confidence in her horsewomanship, started out last Sunday afternoon, with her husband and other friends on horseback to visit the scene of operations in the canon.

Vegetine in fact, I was visit the scene of operations in the canon. Of all the wonderful canons in Colorado, the Grand Canon of the Arkansas is the most awe-inspiring. The walls are 2,000 feet high at places, and almost perpendicular. Before operations were begun within them by the railroad men, no one ever attempted to pass through the gorge except during the winter, and then on ice. The laborers have, however, made paths in the For Kidney Complaint and Nervvery sides of the immense precipices, and it was along one of these that Mrs. Mallett and her friends were traveling. She rode a trusty horse, and was as composed as any Mr. Stevens:of her party. They had proceeded to a point beyond the horse trail, and were decending a steep hill.

The path was a narrow one, the walls of the canon shooting far up toward the blue, clear sky, and down for hundreds of feet, until they dipped into the disturbed waters of the rapidly-rolling Arkansas. It was at this dangerous spot that Mrs. Mallett's horse stumbled and fell. There was no room for the least falter. This was, therefore, a fatal step. Mrs. Mailett, with almost incredible presence of mind, disentangled herself from her horse. Below her ten feet was a shelving rock, about fifteen inches wide. This she struck and caught with her hands. With nerve that would have made the sterner sex proud of manhood, the lady held on to the end of the rock, dangling in the air, gripping it with desperation. Had she let go her next lodging would have been on any her next lodging would have been on any that would have made the sterner sex her next lodging would have been on another shelf fifty feet below. To hold on

Now comes the strangest part of the story. The horse fell also and lodged on the same shelf to which his mistress was clinging. In falling he had turned completely around, but there he stood on the narrow ledge of the stone, hugging the wall and evidently realizing his position, if horse ever realized anything. He did not stir a muscle, hardly breathed for an hour or more, until ropes strong enough to take hin out were obtained at a camp a mile distant. By the time these arrived, fifty men or more who were engaged in the canon had gathered along the trail and as many as could make the seemed to realize fully that steps were being taken for his rescue, and did not move to make any resistance until he was placed upon a sure footing in the path.

The Wonders of a Phonograph

Upon the completion of the first phonograph it was immediately taken to the ofice of the Scientific American, which has repeatedly indorsed all that has thus far een claimed for the machine.

Representatives of all the New York papers, and many from other localities, have examined the phonograph, and have been fully satisfied as to its merits. Elaborate descriptions and indorsements have been printed in the leading periodicals. Many scientists have personally tested the phonograph to their entire satisfaction.

The phonograph has been exhibited to the leading scientific socities in the United States, England, and France, and they have passed resolutions of thanks to the inventor. There are not less than thirty phonographs in existence in the hands of different parties in this country, and it is daily exhibited in New York.

At least 10,000 people have seen and listened to its performances. Mr. Edison has nothing to do with these exhibitions, his time being fully occupied in his laboratory at Menlo Park. Many visitors go expecting to be sold, and even when in the room insist upon deception; but all have a chance to examine, for themselves until perfectly convinced. The writer has used the phonograph on several occasions. His words, spoken in a tone lower than ordinary conversation, have been perfectly recorded and repro-

He has heard the phonograph talk, laugh, cough, whistle, and sing. It reproduces the cornet perfectly. The words, voices, and music, when duets are played into it, are accurately rendered. When a sentence has been spoken to the phonograph, a subsequent record may be made over the first, and the two utterances will be reproduced at the same time, although there is some confusion and a slight A tew simple experiments will satisfy any one as to the power of the voice. 1. Orders for repairing or tuning may be left at the Music Store of Moseley & Bro., or Warren Case with the phonograph.

It is necessary, however, that a standard machine as near perfection as possible in all its details should be made before general introduction. Parties owning phonographs will desire to use them to communicate with each other, which could not be done if the patterns were different. At present, the record made on a phonograph cannot be used after removal, but the problem is simply one as to the best meth-To perfect the phonograph will require some weeks. In the meantime, the Phono-

Mr. Frank Wohlman, of that city, who formerly lived here, was married on the 6th inst. at Oshkosh to Mrs. Mary Roemer of the latter city.

-Some of the finest winter wheat to be seen anywhere or at anytime was shown us this morning by Crossett & Clark, who propose to make from it some white winter wheat graham.

-City Treasurer Hazleton went to the circus, of course. He was badly frightened by a tigress who made a desperate effort to get his hat away from him, as he stood looking at the animals.

-To-night there will be a strawberry festival at Lappin's hall to which all are invited. It is under the auspices of the First Methodist Sunday Scrool, and will doubtless be a joyous occasion.

-Owing to the change in the time table of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, the afternoon mail to Chicago will, on and after Monday next, close at two o'clock one half-hour earlier than now. -Mrs. Kate N. Doggett, of Chicago, will lecture at All Souls' church to-night on "Raphael." A nominal admission fee of ten cents is to be collected at the door. The lecture is to commence at 8 o'clock. -The postoffice department has issued orders that henceforth and toreyer no flour is to be allowed to go through the mails.

take place on and after Monday next. -Mr. H. B. DeLong, in a card published in another column, fires a sharp volley in the sewing machine war, which has broken out. Every one who is in any way interested in sewing machines should not fail to read it. It is spicy and to the point.

-Mrs. W. P. Stowe, of this city, who has gained such an envisble reputation by the skillful use of her pencil and brush, has produced another choice painting, it being "The Abandoned", after Moran. It is placed on exhibition at Collins' music

-There was a large gathering at All Souls church last evening, to participate in the strawberry festival provided by the ladies of that organization. The tables were very attractively arranged, glittering the public to be interested and with rich ware, tastefully decorated with flowers, and heaped with an abundance of relishable vlands. After the refreshments had been partaken, a season of general sociability, and a pleasant dance followed Anderson's band furnishing the music. The occasion was profitable and enjoyable.

-The committee of arrangements to provide for the strawberry festival of the Temple of Honor next Tuesday evening met last night in Mr. E. L. -Mr. W. A. Lawrence, who has been spending about two weeks in the east combining pleasure with business, has turned. Some of the Eastern manufacturers were greatly surprised at the fine quality of the cotton goods manufactured here, on being shown some samples which he took with him. He found business quiet and learned to his satisfaction that many of the wise men of the East predict that the time is not far distant when the West will be the great manufacturing district. Many of them already admit that in those articles which the West manufactures to any extent, the Eastern factories cannot

TOOK A TICKER.

Mr. J. B. Vaughan claims that he has lost his gold ticker by the wiles of a woman named Ala Finn, with whom he was slightly acquainted. He says she was at his house, and that she left unceremoniously without any word or warning, and using his value to carry away her clothes. He didn't care so much for the valise, but when he discovered that his gold watch was missing he hastened to charge it to the woman, and swore out a warrant for her arrest. The authorities in Milwaukee were telegraphed to, and a reply has been received that the woman had been arrested there, and was being held till an officer could come from this city and bring her back to Janesville. Constable Taylor has gone on that mission, and will arrive probably this evening with his prisoner.

FUN ON THE TURF.

To-morrow afternoon there will be an interesting matinee at the driving park, which will doubtless draw together a large number of those interested in blood and speed. There will be at least two races, and probably a third for green horses, of which there are a large number whose owners will gladly enter them, and who can show up good speed. The first race necessity of a preparation for death. When there are three entries,

THE HESSIAN BAND.

Those who delight in choice music ably rendered should not forget that the Hessian Band will appear at the Opera house to-night. Those who have heard these musical artists will need no urging to attend, while those who have not, cannot afford to miss this opportunity, as it will be the last before the band start for Europe. With twenty soloists well trained together, they present an entertainment that is hard to surpass. The Opera house should be crowded to-night, and due appreciation shown the musicians in their attempt to not merely amuse but to instruct the public, by furnishing a high order of music, and rendering it in an able manner. Wherever they have appeared they have had well-filled houses, and enthusiastic audiences, and when they were in Janesville before they made a very favorable impression and gained an enviable local reputation.

A PERMANENT MUSEUM. Frank L. Tappan proposes to soon establish in this city a permanent museum, and has already engaged one of the stores in the Myers' block, fronting on Milwaukee street. Mr. Tappan has for some time tal trom Madison and other friends in the been collecting specimens, and being a skilled and practical taxidermist has prepared all of them himself. Besides these he has a number of living curiosities and by constantly adding to his collection, will doubtless furnish a fine opportunity for instructed at a mere nominal cost to them. At present he is occupying rooms in Smith & Jackman's block and is busy preparing specimens. He has a very large collection already, valued at about $2,000, and containing many beautiful and rare birds, and animals. The head of Burr Robbins' lioness, which was killed by one of his tigers, is there being prepared for mounting. Mr. Robbins has given many other valuable contributions. Dr. Judd has also contributed a large number of brightly plumaged birds from the tropics. The head of the elk which killed a man here last fall, and who was in turn killed by Mr. Robbins sects, and all the smaller animals, are crowded into these rooms, and Mr. Tappan is hurriedly preparing for his new venture. He has also a great deal of work to do for others. It is to be hoped that the enterprise may be a successful one, and that the museum may be established at an early date. Mr. Tappan is a skillful taxidermist and an enterprising young man, and many here are interested in his success.

LOVE BY LETTER.

A young railroad man whose run is from here to Chicago, has a chum in that city, with whom he is on terms of close intimacy. At said chum's request, he opened the way for a correspondence between him and a young lady of this city, and letters went to and fro between them, till the letter-writing apparently opened into a warm and strong affection between the two, though they had not seen each other. Little did the Chicago young man dream that all these breathings of love came from the pen of -not a young lady-but the young to the Rev. Joseph T. Inwan, station D, Bible grees above. Clear. ## OBITUARY.

MRS. ELLEN DYER CARTER. The Merrimack Journal, of Franklin Falls, New Hampshire, gives the following concerning the death of Mrs. Ellen Dyer Carter, the wife of Mr. Charles A. Carter, and daughter of Mrs. Jonathan Fellows. an old resident of Johnstown:

Mrs. Ellen Dyer Carter, wife of Charles A. Carter, died of diphtheria at the tions: residence of William S. Wheeler, in Franklin, N. H., May 2d, aged 32 years. Mrs. Carter was the only child of David and Louise Peabody Dyer, of Andove, N. H. When about eleven years of age removed with her mother to Johnstown Rock, Wisconsin, where she was married and lived until about a year ago, when she came East, followed by her husband in November last. She was taken ill on Monday and died on the following Thursday. Medical aid was pow-erless to save her, as the disease was of such a maligant type. She was very auxious that her mother might be with her during her last hours, but the distance prevented her being present. Miss Lottie Dyer of Boston was telegraphed for, but arrived about an hour too late to see her alive. She had a strong desire to live, and feeling that she was not a Christian, fully realized the will be a free-for-all, in earthly physicians failed, she asked the Great Physician, who is able to heal soul and body, to fit her for the great change, which was rapidly approaching; and before she passed away she felt that her sins were forgiven. The deceased was of a very amiable disposition, and was proficient both as a musician and as an artist in hair work. Her remains were taken to New Hampton for interment. Services were conducted at the grave by Eider Blake, of New Hampton.

H. B. DELONG invites the public to call and judge for themselves whether or not he is selling the bogus Singer, as implied by an ad. Nor does he acknowledge the Singer to be as good as the imported Williams, Wilson, White, Davis, or the new "Home" which he is agent for, but said advertiser, when he could not sell his own goods, offers the goods of others at less than cost. He has done this time and again, and can have all that he wants of that kind of business. Now, it pays said advertiser to cry "Bogus" and pocket ten or afteen dollars. The machine in question is the imported Williams Singer, manufactured from the best English steel, and is perfect in every detail. Don't fail to call and examine this "Bogus" machine, which together with the other above mentioned machines will, for the next thirty days, be sold at cost. Water street, 4 loors South of Jail.
